Nominal sizes are not really a good idea because:

- A. It takes time and effort to find the nearest size to what you need.
- B. Need to design around existing dimension. Not able to complete your design first and then come up with actual size of the walk-in.
- C. Limits design of shelvings and maximum use of available space, With high rents, could be a major added cost due to wasted space.

We only charge for the actual total sq.ft. needed to build your box to any odd shape or height. Approval and license required (please check with approving agencies or call us). We have all the information containing approvals, NSF, Los Angeles Research, Fabricator License, UL
